

Dear Coach Littleton,

I am writing to strongly endorse the workshop that you hosted last year on "what to expect in the college recruiting process". Feel free to share this email with anyone or to cut out any quotes. I would highly recommend this workshop to any student or parent considering running or anticipating being recruited to run in college.

Your workshop help my wife, my son Bobby Peavey, and me to understand the process involved in selecting a school as well as what to expect from college coaches during the process. Having been through the process now, I can tell you that you and the college runners that you had at the conference were spot on. You helped us understand such things as what to look for during "official visits", what to expect for scholarship offers, and what official steps we needed to take in order for our son to be eligible to be recruited. You also helped my son to understand what to expect once he's in college and running at a higher level. As exciting as the recruitment process was, you also helped us to prepare for the stress; and OH boy was it stressful.

We can't thank you enough for the workshop and recommend it to anyone considering it. I would be happy to attend the workshop to speak as a parent that recently went through the process or I would also be happy to speak with anyone that may be looking to ask questions.

Thank you again Coach

Bob Peavey
